RECORD OF EVENTS

PAGE ONE

1 March 1945

This month was started out right in many ways. Our armies were definitely on the move on the Western Front and the enemy seemed more interested in getting across the Rhine than in making a stand. We flew 94 sorties today, the 395th dispatching 30 on 2 squadron missions to dive bomb the Langenselbold fuel dump, east of Frankfurt; the 396th sent out 28 planes to support units of the XII Corps; the 397th had 32 A/F with the VIII Corps and 4 more F-47’s distributing leaflets. The 395th destroyed 3 F-190’s and one F-89 and damaged another F-190; the other claims were 9-18 on tanks, 24-22 on V/T’s, and 18-0 on freight cars.

The first 395th mission to Langenselbold was just starting to bomb when 15 B/H attacked. Lt. Hugh I. Matthews’ flight had just made its bomb run when 4 F-190’s bounced them. Lt. Matthews’ plane caught fire and went down through the overcast. The pilot called over the R/B that he was bailing out. He is listed WIA. The other F-47’s jettisoned their bombs and went after the bandits. 2nd Lt. Glen Bergman shot down the F-190; Capt. Ivey, 1stLt. Dillman and Vieck each got a F-190, and 2nd Lt. Robert Andrus damaged another F-190. Another feature of the mission was that Capt. Carey, who was scheduled to lead the squadron, crashed on takeoff. He was uninjured but the plane went to the Service Team. The 395th ran into weather trouble on their second mission and dropped their bombs on the V/T at Gr. Cerfau, south of Frankfurt. The bombing was good; tracks were cut in 4 places, 2 fires were started, 3 buildings were destroyed, and a choke point destroyed.

Besides 4 planes which distributed leaflets at Murlenbach, Gerolstein, Rudneheim, and Stadtbilg, the 397th dispatched 32 F-47’s on 7 squadron missions to cooperate with the VIII Corps. Several of the flights dropped their bombs on vehicles, but others bombed and strafed several V/T’s with both good and poor results, hit an ammo dump, and got some good hits above and around 2 tunnel entrances. And the controller Junkbox reported excellent results on several blind bombing missions which we had to report W/R.

The 396th dispatched 28 F-47’s on 7 squadron missions to work with units of the VII Corps. Five flights were very rough on the towns of Seffereich (leveled), Velberweich, Paesfeld, Orford, and Kyllburg, generally going after vehicle concentrations at these places but also beating up the towns in the same process. Two later flights were N/R, one dropping bombs on a wooded area and another bombing through the overcast, controlled by Junkbox.

That’s about all, except that Pallad, the controller on the first 396th mission said he would buy drinks all around for the good job done. Remind us to remember that.

The Special Orders for the first day of the month indicated an Ops change. Lt. Col. Gerald L. Sparks is appointed Group S-3, vice Lt. Col. Hassler, and Major Carlos W. Tefft is appointed Acting Group S-3 (Lt. Col. Sparks is now in the 73.)

2 March 1946

Today's missions followed the same general pattern. Flying a total of 111 sorties, the 397th sent out 30 planes on 2 missions to attack special targets, the 395th "took over" the XII Corps, and the 396th again supported units of the VII Corps. Toward the end of the day we flew our 1000th mission, though we won't celebrate the completion of a year in combat until later in the month.

On their first mission the 397th sent out 24 planes for another shot at the Lengefeld fuel storage depot. The bombing was excellent, with 12 hits on the targets causing an explosion and considerable damage to the fuel dump. The second 16-plane mission attacked the Weismain Y/F repair shops, but results were hard to judge after the bombing. But 16 bombs dropped on an oil tanks in the woods nearby started a large fire, 3 tanks being damaged and 1 destroyed.

The first 4-plane flight of the 395th got off at 0716. Like most of the succeeding missions, most of the bombs were dropped on concentrations of tanks and Y/Fs, but a number of small towns were clobbered in the process. Claims were 5-4 on tanks, 23-7 on Y/Fs; and there were the usual quota of houses destroyed, road and rail cuts, and at least 5 horse-drawn guns and a gun position destroyed. Fires were started in a number of places, some German personnel blazed and a radio tower destroyed near Naun. And as usual there were some NCO missions, but on one of them we were assured that the results were satisfactory. Smoke-marked troops and supplies in the town of Bassum were bombed, and the controller (Fieldfare) reported "mighty fine job".

Thirty-nine planes of the 396th on similar missions had the same kind of results. They claimed no tanks but 37-23 on Y/Fs and 5-5 on freight cars. Good hits were scored on Pader in 2 attacks on the town. A small Y/F at St. Thomas was well clobbered and a large fire started. A direct hit left a large hole in the highway bridge over the Geselle at Piesport. The controller "Smallsack" reported good bombing on the towns of Judelshof, Bailingen, and Jettersich, the targets requested by the controller and the latter 2 marked by smoke. The 396th tried a 4-plane town-bombing mission also, but the weather prevented an attack on the primary target. Their bombs were released (or tossed) near Saarbrucken, where they cut tracks and damaged an overpass.

Headquarters received by Major Donald Davis on the growing W/O rate ---and "Doc" followed up his little talk with a physical examination.

2 March 1946

Each squadron "adopted" a corps of the 3rd Army today - the 395th working with the XII Corps, the 396th with the XII Corps, and the 397th with the XX Corps. A total of 128 P-47s were dispatched on 33 missions, and the Third Army was highly satisfied with our work. At least three commendations came in from Patton's corps on our work. At least the text of one will be included in a supporting document and 2 others will be quoted later. And the XIX TAC Daily Intelligence Summary for the period ending Sunrise, 1 March 1945, in describing the Third Army situation says: "Further north the Fifth Infantry Division crossed the Kyll River and captured Pader with what Third Army described as excellent assistance from 396th Group."

The day's claims were 7-14 on tanks, 71-102 on Y/Fs, 4-0 on locomos, and 18-81 on freight cars, but that was only a small part of the story. The most important

... contributions today were in knocking out obstacles in the path of the Third Army. Working with the VIII Corps the 395th bombed Frossenburg, which fieldfire marked with smoke, burned Bischof and another town (probably Birresborn), and bombed and strafed vehicles of enemy types, eliminating a few Jerrys as a sideline. Then the weather forced a couple of Junkers 524 radio-controlled blind-bombing at Pohren - 1 MAO, and another controlled by Sawmill. The last couple of missions were good, but we'll let the VIII Corps hand out the "orchids".

1. "With the fullest cooperation from "Bip 2" and with fighter-bombers of the 395th Squadron, 368th Group, dodging snow showers and hunting holes in the cloud cover, a number of good air strikes were made 3 March.

2. A strike by "Flapper Purple" at 1700 hours is of interest. After being vectored to INDELBACH the flight leader found enemy vehicles on all roads moving east. The intelligence which he developed while making the strike caused interdicting artillery fire to be brought to bear on these roads. The road blocks, which the flight leader affected through the destruction of enemy equipment, created a most favorable situation for this fire. This added further to the very profitable attack by "Flapper Purple".

The 396th, "cooperating with units of the XII Corps", scored with their first flight, when they hit Naden. They came back to report NO, but the following telegram from the 5th Infantry corrected that estimate: "Fighter-bomber close cooperation furnished 5th Infantry Division on 3 Mar 45 was of superior performance and accuracy, aiding materially in establishing division bridgehead across Vell River. The bombing against enemy artillery positions between 1-229565 and 1-229548 completely silenced four plus enemy batteries that had been putting heavy concentrations on the rear bank of the bridgehead." And the 5th Division told us that our "results unobserved" on 2 bombs dropped on Pader on that first mission should be changed to 2 tanks and 3 flak guns destroyed and several enemy soldiers killed. "The squadron worked over enemy towns and field positions in the Naden area all day, and after the statement of the people they worked for, a detailed account should be unnecessary. It was considerably better than good. Through a 3 Air, XII Corps, the 5th Division expressed their appreciation to the 368th for an outstanding job of cooperation with the Division troops (see Supporting Document).

Even 4-plane flights of the 397th turned in similar performances in support of the VII Corps at the southern end of the Third Army front. The first mission bombed and strafed Greinerath, strafed some German troops and a rocket launcher woods nearby. Except for a lot of houses beaten up, the results were generally hard to judge - but the Hebelwerfer launcher was definitely destroyed. The next mission worked on tanks, rail traffic, and J/K's with some good results and some not so good, because of a strong wind. Then Fall, Bekond, and Flevenich were bombed and damaged; and strafed - with many houses reduced to rubble. Then another couple more vehicle attacks, the towns of Dreiss and Thalfang were attacked - with more rubble resulting. Other squadron claims were a number of barracks bombed and radio tower damaged.

8 March 1945

A 2-plane weather recce flown by the 396th prevented a white-washing in operations today. Lt. Olson reported 10/10 at 2000 ft., and poor visibility - so that was our "all" for the day.

Major Richardson’s Service Team photographers came up today with a Speed Graphic and some flash bulbs and took pictures by departments - in our natural habitats.

5 March 1945

We flew 2 weather recce today, the 397th sending out one in the morning and the 395th another in the afternoon. The first reported 10/10, the second 3 to 8/10, with scatter rain - and again we had to let it go at that.

The photo men came back for more pictures, the XIX TAG basketball tournament got underway, and Capt. Haag pulled off a dental survey for Group headquarters this afternoon.

Lt. Colonel Perego expressed his appreciation to the pilots for their fine performance on 23 February by endorsing a letter of commendation received from XIX TAG on to the Squadrons (supporting document).

Supporting Document #3, Itr., Commendation, 27/2/45, XIX TAG.

6 March 1945

Our first contingent leaving for England on furloughs took off today, going first to Paris where they may be forced to spend a day. Leaving from Group Hq. were Lt. Blagen, T/Sgt. McConnell, S/Sgt. Radomski, and Sgt. Spahn. The rest of us were all exposed to a compulsory WD film - "Pickup".

Our 368th Group Thunder Bums played their first XIX TAG tournament game tonight and won 43-32, defeating the 354th Group Pioneers in the first overtime period - after trailing throughout the contest and finally tying the score on Heath's field goal in the last 10 seconds. Barrett's winning field goal dropped through the hoop in the last 5 seconds of the overtime period. Heath lead the 368th scorers with 12 points. Michalak, the only Hq representative on the squad, scored 5 points when he was in the lineup. The starters, all from the 397th, were Jones, Heath, Lanahan, Barrett, and Katz. The Thunder Bums squad now includes Major Tuite and Cpt. Johnson, both of the 397th.

7 March 1945

We were still kept on the ground by the weather, but our briefing room began undergoing major repairs - or rather spring renovations. The walls were being painted a pale robin's-egg blue, the "furniture" a bright fire-truck red, and new light fixtures are being installed. It must be moving time!
8 March 1945

Again we were grounded, but our Ground Forces were doing all right. "e learned that the First Army had captured a Rhine bridge at Remagen and already had sizeable forces across the river. And "our" Third Army armor had stabbed to the Rhine at Andernach, north of Koblenz, near the First Army's bridgehead.

Our 368th Group "Thunderbumps" moved into the semi-finals of the XII TAC Cage tourney tonight by massacring the 932nd Signal Flt. "Tremendous" 40-38. In the first half, Harry Heath, star "Rum" center, scored 19 points to put the 368th ahead 21-12. Heath, who was taken out in the third quarter, had 24 points for the night. Michalak of Headquarters scored 6 points in the 2 quarters he played.

9 March 1945

After a 3-day layoff, our planes got into operation again today - but the weather definitely wasn't flying weather. The holes through the overcast were scarce as hen's teeth, and the first 2 flights sent out had to give it up as a bad job and jettison their bombs. But 33 planes in all were dispatched, and the last 3 8-plane missions were able to get in some work. I like the first 2. These missions were to provide armored column cover for the 4th Armored Division. The 397th dropped 12 bombs on Limburg, where they found a hole in the clouds. An accurate estimate of the damage was impossible, but some warehouses were hit and fires started. "Junkbox" vectored the 397th to "Lettich, which 7 planes bombed through the overcast. No. Eight planes of the 396th, each carrying one bomb, released their 500-pounders on a locomotive and 50 cars near Zollan. The bombing didn't seem to be very good, but the train stopped and much smoke was seen. No claims could be made, however.

To round out the day, Col. Peregello flew out to look over the situation (technically a weather recco) and came back to report plenty of weather - all bad.

Our Thunderbumps bowed out of the XII TAC basketball tournament tonight, losing to the 10th Photo Group Sander's 33-32 in the semi-finals. The lead changed 6 times during the battle. Anderson of the 10th was high-scoring with 19 points; Heath was again top man for the 368th with 9 points, followed by Narther, who played an outstanding game, with 8 points. Michalak of Group Ha., who played 2 quarters, again turned in a good performance. The 368th, who won their 26th consecutive game tonight, will meet the 368th Group entry tomorrow night in the finals of the tourney.

10 March 1945

Ordinarily, this wouldn't be considered much of a day, but at the end of the kind of week we have had, the 51 planes dispatched today didn't do too badly. The 397th got off first, 2 minutes before noon and dropped their 24 bombs on the supply depot at Vogelbach, near Homburg, all the bombs falling in the target area. Some fires were started but smoke obscured the results, which were probably good. Strafing destroyed a radio station at Ilsherg, fired storage tanks in the same town, destroyed 3 V/7s and damaged one, and worked over a warehouse - NRO. A later 397th mission dropped 24 bombs on St. Kirche, 15-20 miles SE of Trier, but was a 584 blind bombing job. Another NRO.
10 March 1945 (cont’d)

The 395th and 396th got together on a 23-plane armed recce to the Koblenz-Linzburg area. They dropped 44 bombs on Ruemberg with fair results, at least 3 fires and much smoke being observed. Hits were seen on an active refinery-like factory and a road in the center of the town. To round out the day, the 395th sent out 4 planes which distributed leaflets over Reinfeld, Neusingen, Bausendorf, Reinkastel, and Cochem.

11 March 1945

Our planes were forced to stay on the ground today, the weatherman again snafuing operations. But we all saw a training film—Subject: “Germany,” which probably indicates what is in store for us. There is a good deal of moving talk going around, and we are looking over prospective fields in Germany. The airbase near Eascher Lake has been the one most talked-of—and is reported captured in good condition.

12 March 1945

Once more the weatherman grounded us, and we are getting pretty touchy on that subject. Since 3 March we have accomplished practically nothing—thanks to the weather.

A Paris contingent came back today with a really sad tale. Someone ranked them off the regular train coming back—and they spent 28 hours in 3rd Class French cars—without heat, food, or water, they reported. However, there were no casualties from hunger, thirst, or exposure.

13 March 1945

Our planes got back into the war today, dispatching 83 planes after bad weather over the target area gave us a late start. In fact, 2 4-plane alert flights were the only 4/c to take off before noon; the first 4 planes got off in 11 minutes from the time we were warned of enemy jet aircraft in the vicinity. The alert flights were completely uneventful, but 5 succeeding missions ran up some respectable destroyed-damaged totals: 87-10 on M/T’s, 1-0 on locos, and 23-91 on freight cars. In addition the Niesboden supply dump was bombed, with beaucoup smoke resulting; and the bombing of the Friedburg M/T shops started fires.

Today also marked the end of our first year in operation. Checking back over the records, we find that we have been able to get planes into the air 233 days out of 365, about 2 days out of 3. In that time 13,418 sorties were flown (on 1057 missions), 4249 tons of bombs were dropped, and the following claims were run up: 123-551 on tanks, 5457-1813 on M/T’s and other vehicles, 224-51 on locos, 1074-1994 on freight cars, and 114-16-52 on enemy planes.

We received new reinforcements today, a T/4 (who was immediately made a sergeant), a Pfc, and 5 privates—some of them ex-combat men—and they were assigned to the squadrons.

Supporting Document #4, Special Orders #24.
14 March 1945

"While our pilots shot down 10 German planes today (for no losses) to start our second year of operations, the celebrations played up the past year's accomplishments. "We all received Lt. Col. Perego's "Letter of Appreciation," (listed as a Supporting Document), and there were a couple of parties this evening. Both the EN and officers saw a USC Show (which was not too good), and both had dances scheduled. The officers' party and dance was a real success, Lt. Col. Perego making a short speech, Capt. Cleary summarizing our Group history, and our own 366th Orchestra providing the music. But the EN were not so fortunate; the orchestra special services had arranged for did not show up, and the men thought the party was a little dry and uneventful—so they went home.

Lt. Col. Douglas, flying with the 395th, got the lion's share of bandits today, shooting down 3 r-190's when the squadron bounced 50 ME109's and F-250's at Frankfurt. The encounter was made without loss and claims other than Lt. Col. Douglas's were: Lt. Jenkins—1 ME109 destroyed, 1 ME109 damaged.

Later in the day the 397th Squadron encountered 40-50 ME109's in the main area, and in the engagement with these aggressive aircraft came off with claims of 6-1-0 for no loss; those submitting claims were: Lt. Barker—2 ME109's destroyed, Lt. Chancellor—2 ME109's destroyed, Lt. Fein—1 ME109 destroyed, and Lt. LeGrand—1 ME109 destroyed and 1 ME109 probably destroyed.

Ground claims resulting from the 10 missions—106 sorties—in which 2 tons of 75, 19 tons of incendiaries and 28 leaflet bombs rained down on German installations and supply dumps were: 5 locos, 12 RR cars, 2 barges and 12 buildings destroyed or damaged.

Lt. Col. Shore, Public Relations Officer, XIX TAC, and Pat Mitchell, correspondent for Stars & Stripes, were present for some of the critiques and later attended the officer's party.

Our second and perhaps last contingent of men leaving for England on furlough left today. The two headquarters men who accompanied the 21-man contingent were S/Sgt. Clarence A. Glaser and T/Sgt. Donald A. Facka (Supporting Document).

15 March 1945

For the third successive day weather favorable to operations permitted a total of 11 missions—122 sorties—in which 47.75 tons of GP and 5-76's were dropped on targets—all with good results. The 396th squadron strafed the Limburg airfield and came away with claims of 3-0-3. Other strafing and bombing claims for the day were: 4 locos, 11 RR cars, and one bridge destroyed or damaged plus 8 rail cuts.
Four Flight Officers and five 2nd Lieuts. arrived from a Reinforcement area, and were assigned to Squadrons today per Special Order #25.

Warm weather permitted the boys to play a volley-ball game in the evening. The attendance was limited when a second attempt was made toward the dance tonight.

Supporting Document #4, Special Order #25.

16 March 1945

Continued good weather gave the pilots a chance to strike another blow at German supply and communication facilities today. Ever mindful of the fact that the Germans consider themselves a cultured and well read people, and fearing that their supply of reading matter was running low, we dropped 26 leaflet bombs; moreover, being practical minded and aware that some of the German soldiers would not be inclined toward reading, we gave them something else to occupy their minds—38.75 tons of gp's were dumped in their midst resulting in the following claims: tanks 4-15, "Ts and vehicles 58-20, locos 12-1, freight cars 34-V3, 1 bridge, 1 workshop, and 7 buildings destroyed or damaged.

The 396th Squadrons' primary target, an MT repair shop at Mann, received many direct hits and was left burning. The bridge at Passel, hit by the 397th, was left unserviceable. These claims were the result of 14 missions totaling 138 sorties.

A single long-nosed Focke Wolfe attacked the 396th Squadron while it was strafing north of "Isabaden; had it kept it's lone-nose out of our business it would not have been chased and shot down. A claim was made by "T. Nixon.

The pilots were unable to celebrate St. Patrick's Day in the manner in which they would have preferred; no missions, other than one simulated strafing mission by 4 planes of the 397th squadron, were flown due to low clouds and overcast in the target area to which we were assigned for the day. Attacks were to have been made on BULGARIA-NE Rail Bridge, on a rail bridge at G-923944 and on the BUTTACK Ordnance Depot.

Distinguished Flying Crosses have been awarded to five officers, now missing in action. General Order #39, dated 28 Feb 45, Ninth AF, listed awards of James H. Camlin, 1st Lt; 2nd Lt. Rupert B. Maxwell, 2nd Lt. Roland C. Potter; 2nd Lt. Bryce A Ralston. Also listed for awards, and later KIA, was 1st Lt. William C. Olden. The performance of these officers reflects credit upon their outfit and their absence is regretted.

A general withdrawal by enemy troops across the Rhine has started and after a one day pause, due to unfavorable weather, operations were resumed today. Bombing and strafing results were good and the following claims were made: destroyed or damaged 130-1/2 tons and vehicles, 0-3 on tanks, 4-2 on locomotives, 40-2 on 775 cars, 2 oil storage tanks, 16 buildings, 1 CP, 5 rail cuts, 43 horses, and 85 enemy personnel.

An attack, described by XIX TAC as "highly successful," was made by the 395th Squadron on the Rutesbach Ordnance Depot. The 395th squadron got 3-2 direct hits on the Volkmarshausen RR bridge (reported to be down) and the 397th squadron got cuts on a RR bridge west of Mossel. A total of six attacks on special targets, five armed recesses, and a leaflet mission were flown - 166 sorties, during which 123 tons of "M" incendiary and leaflet bombs were dropped.

One P-47 of the 395th squadron was lost to flak but the pilot returned safely.

Activity in the 8-2 section reminded us of the days when we were rushing across France and making new maps one mass production scale; it also brought to mind the rapid advance of ground forces. A new and larger 250,000 map was installed and the 100,000 briefing map was moved approx 1 degree (30 miles) to the right.

A meeting of "M" pilots was called by Lt. Col. Correll to clarify pass privileges and other N's rules that were likely to lead to misunderstandings.

In recognition of the Groups performance today a 77T was received from Major General Weyand congratulating us on the days accomplishment (Supporting Document).

Supporting Document #7, 77T VIII MC (ADW) 9192250.

14 March 1945

Operations proceed in high gear today, the 368th Group flying 12 missions - 127 sorties of which four missions were armed recesses in the Formassays area, seven were on special targets and one was a leaflet mission. An bombing attack by the 395th on the "Wurzel" military installation set the entire target area ablaze; the 396th squadron attacks on the "Loschauff l" depot sent dense black smoke to 5,000 and good results were observed from attacks on Ebenhausen fuel storage depot, and the Frankfort, Urberach and Grossauheim supply depots. A total of 51.75 tons of bombs were dropped and resulted in claims of: 23-17 "M"s and vehicles, 20-4 on locomotives, 20-9 on "F" cars and 41-21 on buildings destroyed or damaged.

Special Order #27, dated 19 Mar 45, announces a change in Group administration policy when Lt. Col. Lennard R. Correll, Group Exec. Officer, became new Command. After serving as Major Hugh L. Rice, adjutant. Major Rice had been Det. Commander since shortly after the organization was activated at Westover Field, Massachusetts. The same special order announces the arrival and assignment to HQ's of Lt. Robert F. Foss, MD.

Time out while we put ourselves on the back! A letter was received today from XI A who commending us on the February installment of our Group history. S/Sgt. Magaard to whom much of the credit is due for the interest shown in the Headquarters portion, is at present on furlough in London. For his sake and in the interest of satisfactory work during the latter half of this month, it is to be hoped that we will reach the goal line without fumbling the ball.

20 March 1945

Armored recce flown along and beyond the Rhine assisted the Third Army in its drive into the area between the Rhine and the Saar and into the city of "Corso." These gains were made with the aid of what Third Army describes as "superb air-cooperation." Nine missions totaling 130 sorties were flown on armored recce in the Koblenz-Vauburg-Mannau-Frankfurt-Wetzlar area and in attacks on pre-selected special targets; bomb hits were observed over the entire area of the Frankfurt repair depot (photos show one storage type building destroyed and two damaged). Two attacks were made on a supply depot at Riesheim; results being obscured by smoke. Seventeen out of eight buildings in the Aschaffenburg armored vehicle depot were destroyed or damaged; all buildings were destroyed by bombing of the "Riesheim" depot (2-6088) and bombing of the "Vauburg" Ordnance Depot resulted in the destruction of 5 buildings, damage to 2 buildings and a large explosion. Other claims were: 6-917s and vehicles, 4-2 locomotives, and 33-26 162 cars. 57 tons of bombs were dropped during the day.

20 March 1945

The Third and Seventh Armies, after linking up, were in the process of tearing the Saar pocket to pieces and preparations were being made to cross the Rhine. meantime, in order to prevent reinforcement of battered German forces and replenishment of supplies in the Rhine-Saar area, XIX TAC performed armed recce and rail interdiction east of the Rhine. In spite of only slightly favorable weather the Group was able to perform 8 missions totaling 120 sorties on rail cutting. The 43.25 tons of bombs dropped resulted in 15 rail cuts and the destruction or damage of 10-6 171-A's, 7-25 locomotives, 30-75 162 cars, 1 highway overpass and 2 buildings. Two 172's were damaged in an attack on 1 172-A and 15 170's by the 39th Squadron in the Mannheim area. Major Crisp and 11th Chaser each claim 1 172 destroyed. One P-47 was lost to flak.

XIX TAC endorsed and enlarged upon a commendation received from Third Army for the work done recently. (Supporting document 38).

Special Order 21, dated 21 March 1945, confirmed the VOGO 368th Fighter Group of 20 March 1945 assigning S/Sgt. Cris L. Davis, 6255883, to Headquarters. S/Sgt. Davis will serve as link-trainer instructor. This SO (supporting-document) also places Cpl. Frank S. Stowell, 39199927, assigned to 125, on "FY" for a period of 7 days to attend an instructor training course.

22 March 1945

Rail cutting continued to be our primary role in cooperation with the Third Army in its hot pursuit of the routed enemy. Nine missions - 133 sorties - were flown and 38 tons of bombs were dropped on German rail transportation; 4 missions were on rail cutting, 3 were on armed recce against rail targets and 2 strafing missions were against 3 bridges at Fulda. While on a rail cutting mission the 39th Squadron strafed a supply depot at W-1111 (west of Fulda) with excellent results - one building exploded violently; sheets of flame went to 1,000 feet, smoke to 6,000 feet and concussions were felt at 10,000 feet. Strafing and bombing resulted in claims of 11-58 75s and vehicles, 15-67 trucks, 175-190 75mm cars, 1 bridge and 8 buildings destroyed or damaged. 7-4 rail cuts were affected.

23 March 1945.

During the night of 22 March elements of XII Corps' 5th Infantry Division crossed the Rhine in strength for the first time in the Army's history. The best weather permitted good air-ground cooperation. Nine missions - 3 area cover for the XXVII Corps and 6 on armed recce in the Aschaffenburg-Aschaffenburg-Leuchen-Berzdorff area - totaling 140 sorties were flown by this Group. 123 sorties (70,4 tons) plus strafing resulted in claims of 31-56 75mm and vehicles, 71-104 trucks, 177-236 75mm cars, 4 gun positions, 17 barges, 1 barrack, 19 buildings, 1 switch tower, 1 radio station and an oil storage warehouse destroyed or damaged.

Attacks were made on 10 marshaling yards, 3 airfields and a town. In an encounter with 2 Fw 190's south of Oppenheim, Captain Jensen and Lt. Snyder of the 39th Tifodron each claim an aircraft destroyed. Ground claims of 6-15-3 were made by the 39th Tifodron after they strafed the Widda airfield and the 39th Tifodron claimed 2-2-2 at Wurzburg.

Special Order #32, this headquarters, dated 23 March 1945, assigns PFC Howard S. Sweets Jr., to Headquarters. PFC Sweets was further assigned to Group 3-3; the section welcomes his assignment for it brings the enlisted quota back to strength. The order (supporting document) also appointed four officers to serve as a board of officers for the purpose of re-classification of enlisted personnel.

24 March 1945

Results for today are somewhat intangible but it is conceivable that the role played by this Group made possible the rapid progress shown by General Patton's Third Army across the valley leading to Frankfurt. During the previous day attacks were made by German aircraft on the bridge crossing the Rhine below Widda; today, however, by assigning this Group as area cover, security of the bridges was maintained. The fact that pilots were not permitted to go down on targets until they had completed their patrol, prevented their running up any high ground claims - but they did break a Group record: 23 eight-plane missions totaling 189 sorties were flown; previous to today the highest number of sorties flown in one day had been 159 sorties, flown on 7 June 44 from Wilmington, England.
24 March 45 (cont'd)

The first mission took off at 05:45 hours and most of the day was spent in performing uneventful patrols. Late in the afternoon the squadron carried 24 tons of bombs on one mission. The resulting attack plus strafing resulted for the day accounted for claims of 8-0 79's and vehicles, 7-3 locomotives, 1-72 33's and cars destroyed or damaged.

25 March 1945

Nine missions totaling 126 sorties, during which 38.3 tons of GP and frags, were released on German targets resulted in claims of 0-1 tanks, 174-0 79's and vehicles, 18-5 locomotives, 35-172 33's and cars, 1 gun position, 2 barges, and 6 buildings, 2 radio antennas and 3 artillery sites destroyed or damaged. All missions on the 33 bridges at "-312562 (IIM-bermany), is believed to have been the bridge unserviceable; docks were also made in its approaches. Four marshaling yards were attacked and 4 cars were seen. Strafing attacks on the Cineboden airfield resulted in claims of 1-0-0 79's and 1-0-0 on 79's.

For a temporary leave of absence, Col. Frank M. Seiberling, Lt. Col. Paul F. Douglas, Jr., has assumed command of the 29th Bomb Group. Lt. Col. Seiberling has seen to the Riviera Recreation Area for a period of seven days (Supporting Document #12).

Supporting Document #12, General Order #11, 26/3/45.

26 March 1945

Bad weather in the target area resulted in the recall of all squadrons on their first mission of the day—bombs were jettisoned. By 1321 hours the first of three squadrons in 12 and 16 plane missions were able to return for a second attempt. 10.3 tons of frags were dropped resulting in claims of 0-1 on tanks, 1-0-0 on vehicles, 6-0 on locomotives, 2-0-0 on 33 cars, 6 buildings, 1 switch house, 3 fuel tanks, 2 water storage tanks, 1 boiler house destroyed or damaged. No rail cuts were made in attacks on 2 marshalling yards. One ton was hit. A total of 5 missions—56 sorties—were flown today. We had a non-battle casualty today when 2nd Lt. George J. Meyers cracked during a training flight. That's the worst way to lose a pilot.

Potential baseball "stars" in the group met at special service in the evening to toss the ball around and make plans for recruiting a team; the group team will play other teams in TX MAC and Ninth Air Force.

Special Order #33 placed Fnc. Lloyd I. Huddler on TY for Paris for a period of 4 days to pick-up Red Cross supplies. Lucky guy! (Supporting Document #13)

27 March 1945

Third Army again reported excellent air cooperation. It's VIII and XII Corps expanded and joined bridgeheads southeast of Plosam; today's missions were flown in cooperation with the VIII Corps and in armed reconnaissance in the Kienz-Polka area. Three missions totaling 34 sorties resulted in claims of
27 March 45 (cont’d)

1-0 on tanks, 126-35 on V-7’s and vehicles, 2-1 locos, 30-36 B2 cars, 4 buildings and a gun position. Attacks on a town and marshalling yard gave claims of 75 German soldiers killed. The best mission of the day was performed by the 397th Squadron in the Frankfurt area – they destroyed or damaged 77 V-7’s, 2 locos, 1 flak gun, 2 barracks, 15 passenger cars and killed 75 enemy troops. The 3rd cross vehicle mixed with other V-7’s exploded violently when stressed.

A group memorandum dated 27 March 45 announces the transfer of Major Marshall "B" Wrench, from 96 Group to the 395th Squadron. Major Wrench has been the S-2 Officer since his return from the states on 12 February 1945.

The same memorandum announces a shift in S-2 officers. Capt. Robert L. Clark, formerly S-2 Officer for the 395th Fighter Squadron is transferred to Group S-2 while Lt. William B. Faden to 395th Fighter Squadron. (Supporting document #13).

A softball meeting was called for tonight but rain kept everyone away. It is known that a Group League is planned for all squadrons and attached units; four diamonds are ready for games.

28 March 1945

In spite of an approaching warm front which gave us unfavorable flying weather the Group flew 6 missions totaling 92 sorties today; 3 were uneventful escort missions with 12 Bombardment Division in their attack on the Strasbourg fuel dump, and 3 were armed recco’s in the Merzig-Wadern-Pulda areas. Strafing results were 17-62 V-7’s and vehicles, 1-0 locos, 4 buildings, 1 88mm gun destroyed, and 25 Germans. No bombs were carried. The accomplishment for the day was the location of “hot” targets.

Two pilots were reported "MIA. 1st Lt. George J. Rauer of the 397th was seen to hit a hill at 0-955255 and 2nd Lt. Thomas R. Jayden of the 395th disappeared during a strafing pass between 0-8523 and 0-20405.

Special Order #32 announces the arrival and assignment of S/Sgt Loveless to Headquarters. He is further attached to the 397th Squadron.

29 March 1945

Rain and low clouds throughout the day resulted in the grounding of all Ninth Air Force fighter bombers and mediums. This Group was scheduled to perform a bomber escort mission.

Major General Jones, Air Inspector General, Army Air Forces, Washington, D.C., arrived at this field along with Major General Heyland, Commanding General,

XXI Tactical Air Command, Brigadier General Saunders, Commanding General 100th Fighter Wing and a staff of several high ranking officers to conduct an administrative inspection.

30 March 1945

Rain and low clouds prevented morning operations. By 1400 hours the weather had cleared sufficiently to permit 3 missions, 48 sorties, escort of the IX Bomber Command medium bombers attacking fuel storage depot at Ebenbaasen. The 395th Squadron escorted 36 B-24's and B-26's. At one point the bombers were momentarily lost in overcast but controller informed squadron that the bombers had turned back; contact was re-established and then back to Flensburg. The 396th Squadron had similar trouble while escorting 24 B-24's near Celle and lost contact. The 397th escort 36 B-26's uneventfully. Bombing results were observed due to overcast and haze.

31 March 1945

Today was pay-day in many respects. In addition to 120 successful sorties and a welcome pay call, we received a lecture by Captain Dunlar of Ninth Air Force on "Behavior in Germany". Capt. Dunlar cautioned us that we were not to construe his lecture as being indicative of a pending move; but it was only as a lecture to start a rumor and what had prior to his arrival been a faintly whispered suggestion of things to come became a rumbling rumor of "a field in Germany".

The other developments might better be termed a pay-off; it seems that Faster Sunday is a great day for the French of flock to Paris and as a result the train reservations held by the group for men who were going on pass were cancelled or commandeered by the French. Fortunately, before the day ended new arrangements had been and the men got on their way - late, but nevertheless headed for Paris.

In the evening both the officers and the enlisted men held dances. In both cases the "quantity and quality" of the female element was found to be insufficient to meet the demand.

The 369th Fighter Group in its operations with the Ground Forces today flew 9 missions totaling 120 sorties, dropped 9 tons of bombs, and accounted for 3-4 tanks, 25-5 cars and vehicles, 13-3 trucks, 90-12 B2 cars, 5-5 buildings and 2 German soldiers destroyed, damaged or killed.

Operations for the month of March set some records. The Group flew 2,362 sorties, as compared with our previous high of 1751 in June 1944. This was done despite the fact that the weather was generally very bad during the first half of the month (we were grounded for a week straight), and even though the war nearly got out of our range during the last week of the month.

In these sorties our pilots dropped 576.5 tons of bombs and fired 778,700 rounds of 50 cal. ammunition. For this expenditure our destroyed-damaged results were: tanks 27-55, cars & motor vehicles 1130-652, trucks 157-66, freight cars 732-1187, enemy aircraft 11-7-4 (in the air) and 13-0-12 (on - the ground). There may be some more records in those monthly totals, but we'll let it go at that. But a complete story of our activities cannot be expressed in claims like these or figures of any kind. The enormous damage to German ground installations - strong point, fuel and ammo dumps, bridges, \textit{\textvisiblespace}s, buildings, guns and gun positions - can scarcely be measured. And our record day for sorties - 184 on March 24 - had almost no claims, for we were providing General Patton's forces with an air umbrella as they crossed the Rhine on their amazing drive into Germany. That the Luftwaffe didn't come out to argue the point was not our fault. Or maybe they had heard that the 368th was "holding the bridge"!

Special Order #33 announces the arrival of four new officers for the Group and appoints Capt. Robert L. Clark Asst. Group S-2; the order further appoints Capt Clark Group Counter Intelligence Officer, Group Historian, and Group Censor, Vice I.T. Ilagen transferred (Supporting Document #16).

During the month decisions were received awarding Croix de Guerre to seven (7) officers of the 368th Fighter Group. Awards were made on 29 January 1945 for services rendered during the liberation of France. Officers chosen for this distinction were T. Col. Fergo, Lt. Col. Douglas and Lt. Col. Sparks (then Major) - all at present assigned to Headquarters; Lt. Col. Hassler and Lt. Col. Cumby, both of whom have returned to the States, and Col. Meyers (then Commanding Officer of the 368th FG) and Major Hendricks. Col. Meyers and Major Hendricks have both transferred to IX TAC.

Most of all, the month ended with the Allies deep into Germany. Advance elements of the Third U.S. Army were approaching the cities of Kassel (C 2204), Fulda (B 3018), Walhausen (N 0379). The 21st Army Group continued to encounter resistance along the Rhine-Herne Canal with leading elements of 2nd British Army advanced to vicinity (A 8579). The U.S. Ninth Army drove the enemy from the north bank of Rhine-Herne Canal and cleared Plesse (A 5236), and Buer (A 5231); the 8th U.S. Armored Division advanced to A-9045W. The First US Army zone leading elements were reported near Paderborn (B 7045). Seventh U.S. Army elements were near Würzburg, while in the vicinity of Aschaffenburg stubborn resistance is being met from fortified positions. The French 1st Army has crossed the Rhine on a 10 mile front and the American 15th Army has gone into action - where, we don't know as yet.

Forces in the Kassel-Weserach sector have come up against a natural bottleneck formed by the Fulda-Verra Rivers. This terrain is favorable to the defender but once they break out into the unobstructed Elbe Basin to the East, advances may be rapid. It is with this though in mind that we prophesy an early advance through the heart of Germany with Berlin as a possible objective. "Stormy - Joe" be kind to us! With the aid of a little good weather we should establish some new records in air-ground cooperation during the coming month - if the war lasts long enough. And if it doesn't, we can stand the disappointment!

through the G-3 Air, XII US Corps. The 5th Division sends the following report to the 368th Fighter Group: The last three flights assigned for the day (3rd-Warch) consisting of 397 Blue, 396 Green, and 396 Yellow, did an outstanding job of cooperating with the division troops. The flights attacked a woods at L-2057 today when our troops were but 200 yards away. Before the attack the division (10th Infantry) had received three artillery concentrations of 100 rounds, 40 rounds, and 30 rounds. After the aircraft attacked the woods no more fire was received. The weather was 7/10 cover with 1500 feet ceiling at the time. Two tanks were observed burning after the attack. BADER 1-1956 was strafed by the aircraft at the request of the Division whereby three AA positions were silenced. Our troops were 150 yards away from the target disposed in a horse-shoe pattern, complicating the safety factor for the fighter-bombers. As a result of the assistance of the bombing and strafing the troops moved into the town with very little resistance after the attack. A division artillery observer in a cub plane stated that the work of the aircraft was magnificent. Some nebelwerfer installations were knocked out in the attack.

SUBJECT: Complimentation.

TO : Commanding Officer, 368th Fighter Group, APO 141, U S army.

1. In operations ranging from the immediate front of the Third US Army to beyond the Rhine, fighter-bombers of this Command on 23 February dealt the most destructive blows they have yet inflicted upon the enemy's armor and rail transport, thus directly affecting his ability to resist the Allied offensive toward the Rhineland.

2. Your Group played an outstanding and brilliant part in the achievements of that decisive day, destroying or damaging 120 tanks or other armored vehicles, 331 motor transport, 70 32-cm. guns, 12 field guns and many other installations or items of heavy equipment. An attack on an enemy fuel dump caused numerous explosions and fires, and in aerial combat your pilots shot down three German fighters, also probably destroying one and damaging another.

3. For these achievements I take pleasure in commending highly the entire personnel of your Group, and I do so with full confidence that the 368th Fighter Group will continue to carry the battle to the enemy with ever resource at its command until the final victory is won.

SUBJECT: Letter of Appreciation.

To: All Personnel, Assigned and Attached Units, 368th Fighter Group.

1. One year ago today the 368th Fighter Group flew its first operational mission, and while that mission, in itself, was completely uneventful, it marked the first step toward a great record. Today every member of this Group and all its attached units may look at this record with a very complete sense of pride, because you are the people who have built that record.

2. This record is not a product of our collective imaginations. It stands in black and white for all to see. Tactically our record may be found in the monthly summaries of the Ninth Air Force and the XXI Tactical Air Command. Administratively and technically, the inspection reports show that the Group has never been rated below "Excellent" in any inspection conducted by our higher headquarters. In addition, a more than ample file of commendations from higher headquarters covering tactical, technical and administrative phases of our work further substantiates the record.

3. Considerable responsibility must be accorded Col Gilbert L. Meyers, the first Group Commander, who so carefully picked and trained the original cadre.

4. The work of the combat pilots of the Group has been conscientious and unwavering and is widely recognized throughout this theater, and also at home in the States. However, these pilots have not forgotten that it takes the complete cooperation of every member of the Group and all attached units to build this record. They all thank you!

5. As the present Commanding Officer, I wish to extend my sincere gratitude for the cooperation and help of every member of the 368th Fighter Group, Team B of the 84th Service Group, the 1293rd Military Police Company (Avn) Less Det A, the 2137th Engr Fire Fighting Platoon, Det F 9th Flying Control Squadron (Prov), Det R 21st "Stat" Squadron, Det R 40th Mobile Communications Squadron, and the 45th Ordnance R & D Disposal Squad. Congratulations on the great record you have all helped to build!

FRANK S. FREGO,
Lt Colonel, Air Corps,
Commanding.

Office of the Commanding General
APO 405

31 March 1945

My Dear Patton:

The 82nd Tactical Air Command and the 3rd Army have again been committing treason in reverse as we did so happily in August and September.

I mean that instead of giving aid and comfort to the enemy, we have been giving him pain and discomfort, and doing it in a big way.

Let us keep it up!

Sincerely,

[Signature]

Major General Otto P. Weyland

1. With apologies to Patrick Henry I say, if this be treason, let us make the most of it.

2. VIII TAC-Thirty-Third Army again is showing the world what a perfectly coordinated fighting air-ground team can do. I knew that you would be with us to a man when I assured General Patton that we would "keep it up" with the Third Army.
